RASH ALL OVER BODY Awful, Crusted, Weeping Eczema on Little Sufferer - A Score of Treatments Prove Dismal Failures. CURE ACHIEVED BY CUTICURA

"My little boy had an awful rash all over his body and the doctor said it was eczema. It was terrible and used to water awfully. Any place the water went it would form another sore and it would become crusted. A score or more physicians failed utterly and dismally in their efforts to remove the trouble. Then I was told to use the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and before we had used half the Resolvent I could see a change in him. In about two months he was entirely well. George F. Lambert, 130 West Centre St., Mahanoy City, Pa., Sept. 26 and Nov. 4, 1907."

will make her beauty subservient to some art, but it is doubted if there is some art, but it is doubted if there is a more striking instance of this than the case of Miss Madge Voc. who is said to impersonate a sorfowful little Chinese maid in the musical comedy production of 'A Broken Idol," which will be seen at the Broadway theater on Thursday, Oct. 14, with remarkable fidelity.

Miss Voe is one of the prettiest, members of this big company, her dark Oriental features having often been praised by well known artists throughout this country and in Europe. Yet she hides all this beauty in making her face up for this role.

Miss Voe finds compensation in this transformation in the great amount of praise which her work has received from the dramatic reviewers wherever from the dramatic reviewers wherever A Broken Idol" has been seen.

Another of those big, breezy musical shows from the metropolis of the west

Tis is one of the latest Chicago productions, bearing the title of "A Stub-born Cinderella," and it comes almost direct from the New Princess theater, where it has been playing to capacity courses since its opening. "A Stubborn houses since its opening. "A Stubborn Cinderella" is under the personal man-Cinderella' is under the personal direction of Mr. Mort H. Singer, which should be sufficient to prove that a performance of the first magnitude and brilliant Harry Stone, who previ-ous to his engagement with "A Stub-born Cinderella" was one of Honry W. Savage's principal comedians. Miss Savage's principal comedians. Miss Grace Edmond has the part of Lady Leslie, and besides her many other charms has a beautiful soprano voice, which she uses effectively in a num-ber of songs.

BREED THEATER.

Fine Programme of Unexcelled Come-

A varied and excellent programme of motion pictures is being shown at the Breed theater this week, and consists of some of the finest examples of the motion-photographer's art.

To head the list is the superb presentation of the adaptation of Dumas famous novel, entitled The Tower of Nesle, which for sumptuousness of setting richness of centures and sections setting, richness of costumes and ac-curacy of portrayal, is seldom equaled. There is much that is instructive this week's bill, there being two in this week's bill, there being two reels of the educational sort, while the comedy is of the best. Mr. Frank Roust, the new tenor of the Breed, is scoring big with his splendid rendition of the dignified English bullad, entitled "There'll Come a Day," his unusually pure tener voice showing to advantage not only in this number, but in the illustrated song.

THE AUDITORIUM.

"Wonderful," is the word on every-ones lips at the finish of the acrobat-ic act presented by the Airona-Toelier troupe at the Auditorium this week. Ge are S. Banks, a monologuist of Ge are S. Banks, a monologuist of more than ordinary ability, has a new and original line of jokes and stories which keep the house with him from start to finish. The sketch presented by Percy Poliock and Miss Thelms Anglan, entitled "A Bad Actor," is first-class in every respect. The makemp of Mr. Pollock is particularly good and well suited for the part. Miss Anglin is cute and vivacious and holds the closet attention of the audience. Anglin is cute and vivacious and holds the closet attention of the audience throughout the entire act. Grace Orma, a natural comedienne, occupies the stage for twelve minutes and hands out a line of the funniest kind of talk. The well known soprano, Lilian Morrelle, was greeted with a budst of aprelle, was greeted with a budst of applance as soon as she appeared to sing the beautifully illustrated and catchy incian sons, Napanee, which she handled in her usual first-class manner. The Italian operatic song which Miss Morrelle song in a pretty library setting with full house lights was an institution of the lights was an institution of the second films will be shown in A Fair Exchange, which tells the story of George Ellot's Silas Warthe story of George Ellot's Silas Warner, and The Blight of Sin, which is particularly instructive. The remainder of the pictures will be up to the standard maintained by this house.

HOW HE'D MAKE IT FLY.

If I had a million "bucks" to spend.
Ye gods, what would I do?
Ye gods, what would I do?
To see if it were true.
The first I'd do, well, let me see,
I'pon my blooming soul.
I'd play some golf with old John D.
At a thousand "bucks" a hole.
I'd let him beat me every time.
To show him I was game.
That a measiy "thousand" and a dime
To me were all the same.
And then I'd take Tom Lipton up
When next he challenged for a race.
And let him lift the blooming "cup."
I'd give him a "five-frog!" library.
With Dr. Ellot done in copper.
I'd challengs Morgan to a hand
Of whiskey or draw poker.
And lose my coin like so much sand.
I'd show I was no creaker.
I'd buy some trains from old Jim Hill
And run a free excursion
Of workingmen out to the coast
To see the exposition.
Then, Editor, when the game was through,
And I was stony broke.

One morn a Feary at the gate of glory atood disconsolate;

and as he listen'd to the Springs

of Fame within, like music flowing,

and caught the light upon his wings.

Through the half-open portal glowing,

le wept to think another one lad to the Pole his pace outrun.

The radiant Angel, who was keeping

The gates of Glory, saw him weeping;

and is he nearer draw and listen'd

Within his eyelida, like the apray

from Sydney Harbor, when it lies on crystal snow, which travelra say.

Smighty dansting to the eyes.

Son of a great and noble line!

Son the said—"One hope is thine.

The written in the Book of Fate,

four Peary, yet may be formive.

If to your rival, though its late,

four grant it, and redeem thy sin—

Then straight to glory enter in.
